IMPORTANT ITEMS IN DISTRICT BILL

careful perusal of the District appropriation bill in its final shape it will be impossible to point out all the benefits that will accrue to real estate in different portions of the District from those provisions in it which relate to public improvements. It is safe to say, how-Until an opportunity is afforded for a improvements. It is safe to say, however, that there are few features of the bill that will give more general satisfaction than the appropriation of $59,000 for the extension of Fourteenth Street to Piney Branch Road, and the adherence to the original plans for the municipal building whereby separate quarters will be provided for the Police

Fourteenth Street Extension.

The extension of Fourteenth Street at last gives the city a long needed outlet to the country lying to the north, communication with which until now has been almost exclusively by the Brightwood and Tenleytown roads. To those who dwell beyond the limits of the District it will afford a new and convenient route to the business center of the city Of equal, if not greater importance, will be the increase in real estate values which must be the inevitable consewhich must be the inevitable consequence of this improvement and the extension of the tracks of the Capital Traction Company. This will result almost immediately in the subdivision of large tracts of land and the preparation of these for building purposes. To such recently completed and already partly built-up subdivisions as North Columbia Heights, Ingleside, Argyle, and others thereabouts it will prove of incalculable advantage. The prediction is warranted that in less than three years there will be a building boom in those neighborhoods which will vie in extent and vigor with those that have been going forward with so much energy hitherto in other favored sections.

Police Court Building.

The people of Washington cannot be too grateful to Congress for finally consenting to keep the Police Court out of the Municipal Building. Under the provisions of the bill as passed $38,000 will be expended for the acquisition of additional land adjoining the present Police Court building, and on the thus enlarged site a brick structure is to be erected, the total cost of site and building not to the total cost of site and building not to exceed $75,000. Thus a double purpose will be served—the decidedly objectionable surroundings of a police court will not mar the building in which the administrative authorities of the District are housed, nor annoy those respectable residents whose business takes them to the municipal headquarters, and the present unsightly Police Court building will make way for one more modern and in the arrangement of which due care will be taken no doubt to tone down as far as possible the unavoidably disagreeable features of such a place.

Appraisement of Land.
